We remember and honour the 215 children and more who died at Residential Schools. We invite you to join in this memorial by coming, leaving a stuffed animal, praying and committing to listen and learn.

FROM the PASTOR: Virginia Gerbrandt Richert

A week ago it was announced that the remains of 215 children were found in an unmarked burial site on the grounds of the former Kamloops Indian Residential School in B.C. When I heard this, I was speechless and unsure what to think or how to think about it, not unlike many of you I am guessing.

I have been trying to learn more about the history of Indigenous peoples in Canada as well as their current situation for some time now. From what I have learned the Residential schools were created for the singular purpose of assimilating Indigenous People in Canada. And they began with children to try and train them in the way of the white people as early and young as possible. These schools were created to make them more like us.

But what these schools actually did was far worse. They forcibly removed children from their homes, offered them a poor diet and poor educational training, put them in a setting that was rife with insects and disease, and rampant with physical and sexual abuse. Many children died, and those who did survive have scars that will stay with them for the rest of their life. The premise of these schools was racist and the implementation was even worse.

As Christians our calling is to love our neighbour as ourselves, and to care for the least of these. And yet in a moment like this, some of us might be so overwhelmed that we are tempted to simply turn away. But if we are to live into our calling as Christians and listen to the call of the Indigenous elders we would hear them asking us to have empathy, we would hear them inviting us to mourn with them, and reminding us that this is their story and their experience that we are being asked to honour.

As an act of empathy and mourning our church is going to hold a vigil for the young lives that were lost in the Kamloops residential school as well as all the other residential schools in Canada. We are going to create a space on the front steps of our building for people to bring teddy bears or other stuffed animals. Our goal would be 215, but even more would show the care and love that we wish for each of those children as well as the survivors of such horrific events. All are welcome to stop by, say a prayer for the children and survivors, and if you want leave a stuffie.
